

ABSTRACT

A system and method for displaying the location of nearby electronic devices location relative to a user device. An electronic user device transmits a GPS coordinate request to all nearby electronic devices. The nearby electronic devices respond with their device GPS location information and then the user device displays the location of each electronic device that responded relative to the user device location.

5

L7480.0213/P213